

204013 USC Federal Community Unit Plan D.P.189

DRAINAGE CONCEPT

10

1. A research project that uses laboratory-based methods to investigate the effects of a stimulus on a response.
2. The process of gathering data from a sample of individuals in a population, and then using statistical methods to analyze the data.
3. The process of gathering data from a sample of individuals in a population, and then using statistical methods to analyze the data.
4. A research project that uses laboratory-based methods to investigate the effects of a stimulus on a response.
5. The process of gathering data from a sample of individuals in a population, and then using statistical methods to analyze the data.
6. The process of gathering data from a sample of individuals in a population, and then using statistical methods to analyze the data.

Normandie Center

